NOTE DATE CHANGE !!

Sparky Stensaas is a photographer, naturalist, author, publisher living in the North Woods of Minnesota. He is co-owner of Kollath-Stensaas Publishing and owner of Stone Ridge Press (www.stoneridgepress.com). Sparky has recently founded Friends of Sax-Zim Bog, a 501 (c)(3) non-profit organization dedicated to supporting, promoting and protecting the famous birding spot in northern Minnesota—the Sax-Zim Bog (www.SaxZim.org).

Come and see Sparky’s photos of one of the top birding spots in the state and hear about new changes there.

Known as the PhotoNaturalist, Sparky specializes in natural history images of the North Woods—bogs, owls, orchids and more. And on his website (www.ThePhotoNaturalist.com), you’ll find wildlife and landscape images with a twist—a unique perspective, unusual subject, a creative angle—that you might not find on other websites.

Dec 19
- Christmas Bird Count
  Join us Saturday December 19 for the 116th annual Audubon Christmas Bird Count. Zumbro Valley Audubon members work in teams to scout Rochester and the surrounding area for early winter birds. You do not need to be a bird expert. Actually, it’s a great way to learn about new birds. Counting is done from the warmth of cars or on short hikes.

We typically find over 50 species and frequently turn up an unusual bird or two! We need and appreciate feeder reports as well as field participants. Our numbers are reported to National Audubon and added to a CBC database that has been collected annually for over 100 years!

We will meet 7:15 a.m. at the west Silver Lake parking lot, near the fire station. Lunch and a mid-day tally will be held at Quarry Hill Nature Center from noon to 1 p.m. Bring your own lunch. A light meal and final tally will be held at Quarry Hill Nature Center at 4:45 p.m. Hot soup is provided; bring something to share.

To submit a feeder report, download a report form from the ZVAS web site, www.zumbrovalleyaudubon.org, or call Clifford Hansen at 281-0249 to have a paper form mailed to you. Thank you!

For even more bird counting fun, Whitewater State Park will hold its annual CBC on Jan 1st from 8 AM to noon. For more information call Whitewater State park at 507-932-3007.

Change in Service Jan 1st, 2016
Due to the increasing cost of printing and mailing the Newsletter, ZVAS will become an electronic only newsletter starting Jan 1, 2016. If we have your email address, you will receive the newsletter directly by email, or access it later on our website. This will allow ZVAS to put more local articles of interest in the newsletter and send program reminders (if you request them). Another benefit is that more of your donations will go toward high quality programs.

And you will receive the newsletter in full-color. We promise not to share your e-mail address without your consent, and to send you only rare, but important notes relevant to our chapter activities.

If you wish to sign up for the email newsletter, please send your name and email address to: wmbruins@gmail.com, with the subject line: ZVAS.

Conversely, if you do not use email but wish to continue to receive the newsletter, let us know by calling Bill Bruins at 281-1607.

Thank you!

Uninvited Guests by Alice D’Alessio
For instance, the Asian Ladybeetle smug as an orange pearl in its vinyl exoskeleton doted, determined, has come to stage a wild reunion, bringing myriad friends. They swarm out of window casings, motor about the floor, climb the walls, line dance along the bookshelves; take a quick dip in the dishwasher and scotch, make side trips along the couch, inside my collar and book, wander through hair, dive in eyes and mouth. It’s a road race with mini VW’s, a plague, an invasion, a terrorist plot, a bad dream.

Nature slyly lifts the lid and looses Pandora’s hordes to teach humility. We who imagine ourselves just slightly lower than the gods, cower before this orange revelry, huddle in corners, stinking of bug spray.
